

Meet Todd Ruedt

Certified ActionCOACH Business Coach

Born and raised in the Brookfield community, Todd's deep roots and passion for local business will set him apart with his over 30 years in the service industry and over 19 years owning his own landscape company.

Todd's first experience with ActionCOACH dates back to 2006 when he sat in on a workshop similar to those we still perform today. After over 9 years of being an ActionCOACH client, Todd made the executive decision to become part of the coaching team in 2015. In 2018 Todd was awarded "Coach of the Year" at the Global ActionCOACH Conference.

Todd has over 3 decades of experience in the Service and Hospitality industries. He has worked and managed with many family owned organizations, hospitality groups and larger companies.

As an entrepreneur, Todd founded his landscape business in 1999, which he recently sold in 2018. Todd prides himself on helping and providing "Quality Time" back to the local community. The services and communication shown by Todd's past, present and future teams, provides a true statement of Todd's vision to build his legacy in the Elmbrook School District in which he grew up, and is currently raising his own family.

His commitment to charitable organizations includes a lead position on the Elmbrook Education Foundation, providing fundraising golf outings for the foundation, as well as the Leukemia Lymphoma Society & Autism Society.

Todd also created a business building organization that helps identify and grow local businesses through the local community. The CARING Group, which stands for Companies Actively Reinvesting in Neighborhood Growth, has been growing businesses since 2011 and reaches multiple school districts and communities. The non-profit arm of the organization donates thousands of dollars annually and plans to expand to school districts throughout the country.

Todd joined ActionCOACH to help business owners with the same challenges the organization has helped him to navigate through in his own business. Todd's passion is to help business owners obtain their personal dreams by achieving their business goals!
